Blues Concert with Helen Sheldon and The Trash Pandas in the Lippitt House Museum Garden

July 14, 2020-- Providence, RI— Lippitt House Museum is welcoming the public back with an outdoor concert featuring blues singer Helen Sheldon and The Trash Pandas, Sunday August 16th. Enjoy the spiritual and radical nature of the blues while enjoying the Lippitt House garden. This concert is the second in the 2020 Hunter Music Series, which celebrates the voices of women through the lens of American roots music. The concert series along with other in-person and online programs are part the museum's yearlong commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment which recognized women's right to vote. Bring a blanket or folding chair, sunscreen and relax with beautiful sights and sounds around you!

Lawn seating opens at 4:00 PM. Concert 4:15 PM – 5:00 PM. $5.00 per person. Capacity is limited so advance registration is required at www.preserveri.org/calendar

Bad weather will cancel this outdoor event. Face coverings required while on museum property and social distancing guidelines will be strictly followed. No picnics please.

About Lippitt House Museum:

Preserve Rhode Island's 1865 Lippitt House Museum offers tours by appointment, outdoor programs, event rentals, and a variety of online resources. A National Historic Landmark, Lippitt House has one of the best-preserved Victorian interiors in America, allowing visitors to step into Providence's Golden Age. Following the Lippitt family's example of public service, the Museum's cultural programming promotes civic engagement, the arts, and history of Providence.
